Beat the drum for a common purpose and harmonise the energy and spontaneity of people working together well.

Throughout history and in all corners of the world drums have been used to bring people together in communication, ceremony, battle and celebration. There is no doubting the power of rhythm and percussion to empower and stir the emotions. It is also clinically-proven that drumming causes people to feel relaxed, rejuvenated and motivated.

You can bring this sense of energy, unity and spontaneity to your conference with Revel Music, a highly-effective drum workshop concentrated into less than 60 minutes of positive and inspiring team activity – perfect when time and space is limited. Revel Music is also designed to take place in the main conference room, without the need for breakout rooms.

Your delegates will be given a choice of drums and percussion instruments from around the world. Our instructors, who have years of experience in the corporate sector, introduce the delegates to the basics of drumming and teach the language of rhythm using non-verbal communication techniques. Once the group is able to play as one and a group rhythm is established, musical breaks and solos are added to increase complexity and create a breathtaking shared musical experience. It is an experience that will unite and ignite the delegates and leave them ready to take on any challenge.

Revel Music is a quick, invigorating and economic way to focus and unify a team at any conference or company event.
